Again the opportunity will be presented to Irma and district to hear the 57 voice Camrose Lutheran College Choir on May 26 at 3 p.m. in the school auditorium.

The choir, together with their director Mr. E. Marken, journeyed to the west coast during the Easter recess. They sang in several concerts in New Westminster and Vancouver, and also gave two concerts for American audiences in Astoria and Seattle. In Vancouver the choir was privileged to sing for one of Canada's foremost musicians, Dr. Leslie Bell. In a written statement given to Mr. Marken, Dr. Bell said, "I listened with great enthusiasm to the singing of the CLC choir. They have all the skill and polish of a trained adult professional group. I do hope I may hear them again."

Weekly Inspirational Corner

(Sponsored by an Irma Times reader)

Then Peter, filled with the Holy Ghost, said unto them, ye rulers of the people, and elders of Israel, if we this day be examined of you, how can we stand here before you whole?

Be it known unto you all, and to all the people of Israel, that by the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, whom ye crucified, whom God raised from the dead, even by him doth this man stand here before you whole.

This is the stone which was set at nought of you builders, which is become the head of the corner. Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved. Acts 4: 8-12.

To The People of the Federal Constituency Battle River-Camrose

One thing on the tour which we took of the city, we noticed the lack of chimneys on the houses. They don't need them here as they have nothing in homes for heating. Another thing was the Hawaiian State flag which is a combination of the Union Jack and Stripes, one for each island.

Another day, and we are going on a tour of the island of Oahu, on which the majority of the people live. Upon leaving the hotel our first stop was at a Japanese Buddhist Temple. It was a beautiful structure with a simply fascinating altar, with a Buddhist idols and fruits instead of flowers. Then on to the Royal Mausoleum where all their royalty are buried. Visited the Country Club where we saw some of the prettiest hibiscus plants in every color, double and single varieties. Stopped at a beautiful Oriental garden and going from there over the Hali, which is a road connecting Honolulu with the windward side of the island, you cross this range of mountains where the winds blow very strong and the vegetation is so peculiar to see especially the wild platanus.

Had lunch at beautiful Punahoa Park along the ocean. Visited the Mormon Temple grounds, which were beautiful. A little farther up the coastline we were very fortunate to see whales. Along the road were very large fields of sugar cane. It takes cane 18 to 22 months to mature and there is a continuous crop as one crop is harvested another is being planted. We were able to see them being a field of cane, to ready it for harvesting, then a huge machine cuts and piles it where huge cranes load it into train cars hauled to the sugar mill for washing and crushing into raw pulp. Large trucks are also used to haul the cane. Some of the cane sugar is refined on the island but most of it shipped to the mainland for refining. Most of the cane fields are situated where they can be irrigated as they take a large amount of water. Then on higher grounds where irrigation is impractical they use large fields of pineapples. We stopped to have fresh picked pineapples. Pineapples reach full maturity from 18 to 20 months after planting. It is a continuous crop, but when a field is plowed under it is left about 3 months for the leaves to rot. The fruit is all hand picked and fields are so soon that a huge machine with a very long arm travels between fields with the arm in the field and picks in leather pants, sleeve protectors and goggles made of screen to protect the eyes, pick the pineapples and set them on a endless belt in the arm where they then come back to the machine and they are loaded in huge wagons and hauled away to the canneries for processing.

Pineapple is one of Hawaii's chief exports. Sugar is the largest industry, then pineapples, and third the tourist business. Our last stop was along Pearl Harbor and you could see the Arizona where part of it is still out of the water. The Utah warship is almost totally submerged. During our stay we took a Pearl Harbor Cruise and really had a good view of the harbor and the sunken vessels. The American flag flies over the Arizona warship as she is classed as a fully manned ship for in her hull are the 1102 bodies as it has been too dangerous to recover them so each day her flag is raised and lowered as an honor.

Working people must ask for more money and employers must add the increased cost of labor to the price of their products. The farmer finds that machinery costs have risen to the point where the grain he can produce with it is too expensive to sell on the world's markets.

Possibly inflation's worst result is that the person who has invested in insurance, annuities or pension plans, and other forms of small investment, finds that the dollars he put away have now less purchasing power. He wonders if it is after all, advisable to save and invest.

Conservatives realize that efforts to curb inflation, while unpopular in some quarters, must be made if hundreds of thousands of small investors and enterprises are not to be ruined. Conservatives believe that these small investors are the best guarantee that the development of the Canadian economy will remain under Canadian control. A conservative government would make every effort to bring inflationary trends under control.

A vote for Cliff Smallwood will help to elect a Conservative government with John Diefenbaker as prime minister.

WITH THE District Agriculturist

By J. S. Duncan

Farm Young People's Week
Farm Young People's Week at the University of Alberta this year is from June 4 to 12. This is a wonderful week which is open to all farm young people between the ages of 16 and 27. The cost is reasonable and there is a good chance of winning one of the scholarships which are competed for at this time. Young people may attend on their own or be sponsored by some local group. Full information and application forms are available at this office. Don't miss the chance to have some young person in your district attend this week.

Currents and Gooseberries
It will soon be time to start treading these bushes to prevent damage by the Currant Fruit Fly. The treatment is quite cheap and easy. Dust the bushes well with DDT powder, being sure to get the powder into the centre of the bushes and onto the underside of the leaves. This treatment should be repeated at about ten day intervals until the flowers are beginning to drop off.

High Quality Eggs
At this time of year egg grades go down badly. This is usually due to dark colored yolks. Good management can prevent this loss of quality. Keeping feeding the hens their regular laying mash and don't let them out on range at noon or later. Cutting down on the feed and letting the hens out first thing in the morning results in the hens becoming scavengers and eating anything they can find. Make sure the hens have plenty of clean, fresh water before them at all times. Gather eggs often and store them in a cool place immediately.

Market eggs regularly, at least twice a week. These last points are especially important in the summer. By carrying out these few points of good management the quality of your eggs can be kept high in summer as well as winter.

These days most people work under pressure, worry more, sleep less. This strain on body and brain makes physical fitness easier to lose—harder to regain. Today's tense living, lowered resistance, overwork—any of these may affect normal kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and wastes remain in the system. Then backache, disturbed rest, that "fed-up" heavy-headed feeling often follow. That's the time to take Doid's Kidney Pills. They stimulate the kidneys to normal action. Then you feel better—sleep better—work better. Ask for Doid's Kidney Pills at any drug counter.

Funny and Otherwise

An Ozark hermit died recently when he wandered out of the woods and saw an auto for the first time. He didn't see it soon enough.

A merry party was going on in one of the rooms of a hotel when the festivities were interrupted by an attendant, who said, "Gentlemen, I've been sent to ask you to make less noise. The guest in the next room says he can't read."

"Can't read?" replied the host. "Well, tell him he ought to be ashamed of himself. I could read when I was five."

The three salesmen wanted to discuss some things at lunch but couldn't find an empty table. They sat at one where a little, elderly woman was eating. One says: "You know, boys, it's been three weeks since I've been able to take a bath."

The second caught on quick and said: "Heck, it's been six weeks since I've had a bath." And the third backs 'em up by saying: "Shucks, you guys are plain clean. I haven't had a bath since last August."

They wanted to see what would happen. The little old woman finally piped up: "What one of you stinkers please pass the salt."

During a bad electrical storm a mother in Virginia thought her young son would be frightened, so she tipped into his room in the comfort land. The boy opened his eyes and murmured, "What's Daddy doing with the television set now?"

When a woman, indulging in rich canapes, commented that she had to watch her waistline, her friend purred: "And how lucky you are to have it right out there where you can."

OPEN NEW SCHOOL AT DALMENY—A. McCullum, Regina, deputy minister of education, cut the ribbon to officially open the new town school and was the principal speaker at the ceremony held in conjunction with the opening. Mr. McCullum reminded the audience that the assistance this community received for its new school came from the province and that there were other communities a short distance from here that had been less fortunate. He urged Dalmeny to share the responsibility of providing education facilities in less fortunate centres.

Traffic Board promotes Safe Driving Campaign

As part of its continuous effort to reduce the number of motor vehicle accidents and fatalities occurring in Saskatchewan each year, the provincial Highway Traffic Board is presently participating in a "Know and Obey Traffic Laws" campaign in co-operation with the National Safety Council.

Traffic boards and committees throughout Canada and the United States are participating in the campaign.

Statistics released by the Saskatchewan Highway Traffic Board show that 10,437 highway accidents occurred in the province during 1956. A total of 106 of these accidents were fatal, taking the lives of 134 persons.

In addition to the fatalities, 3,373 injuries occurred when weather conditions were clear, 4,997 occurred when the road surface was dry, 8,313 occurred when road condition was good, and 4,747 occurred on paved highways.

A further breakdown shows that 5,842 accidents occurred in daylight, 7,860 occurred when weather conditions were clear, 4,997 occurred when the road surface was dry, 8,313 occurred when road condition was good, and 4,747 occurred on paved highways.

December was the worst month of the year with a total of 1,247 accidents, and Saturday was the worst day of the year, with 2,198 accidents occurring on that day.

The greatest number of accidents occurred in Regina with a total of 1,444, followed by Saskatoon with 1,338 and Moose Jaw with 630.

The reason for the campaign is to reduce these terrible statistics in 1957. The only solution to the problem is voluntary compliance by drivers and pedestrians to the traffic laws of the province. J. A. Christie, chairman of the board, said:

"Most drivers and pedestrians do not knowingly violate traffic laws, but the well intentioned but errant ones outside the small percentage of wilfully reckless or indifferent drivers in keeping traffic accident figures mounting."

Mr. Christie offered the following rules for safe driving:

1. Know and obey all traffic laws.
2. Drive at a speed that is safe for conditions.

3. Never drink after drinking. Don't drink if you intend to drive.

Mission City and District Board of Trade will continue to support the Fraser North Shore Highway Association which for some years has fought for a modern highway on the north side with ultimate extension from Agassiz to a junction with the Trans-Canada Highway at Hail-Hope. Membership in the FNSHA is made up of Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce between East Hastings, Vancouver, and Agassiz. SPRAY YOUR GARDEN WITH GREATER CARE

Horticulturists in the prairie provinces are becoming very much concerned about the injury done to horticultural plants and crops due to the increasing, and sometimes careless, use of selective, high-volatile weed-killers such as 2,4-D. At the last annual meeting of the Western Canadian Society for

Horticulture, a special committee, which was set up a year ago to study this matter and determine its seriousness, reported substantial damage to ornamentals, vegetable crops and fruits.

T. A. Sandercock, chairman of the committee, and vegetable specialist for the Manitoba Department of Agriculture, reported the results of a recent survey conducted among horticultural scientists in both Canada and the United States. From this survey, it was reported that selective herbicides have caused widespread damage, and that 2,4-D and related compounds rank higher than any others on the list of dangerous materials.

"It is gratifying to note, however," said Mr. Sandercock, "that no one has indicated that 2,4-D cannot be used with complete safety near ornamental plants, provided due consideration is given to the formula used and the method of application."

According to the committee's report, in southern Alberta damage to field and homestead shelterbelts has caused considerable concern. In North Dakota, forestry officials are considering the elimination of the Manitoba maple, which hitherto has been an important shelterbelt species. Several years ago a survey made of the important truck gardening area in the vicinity of Winnipeg, involving thousands of acres, revealed that there was scarcely a fully healthy tomato plant in the entire area.

Quoting from the report, Mr. Sandercock said, "The economic importance of chemical weed control is fully recognized. It is also quite evident, however, that the more widely chemicals are used for this purpose, the more serious the damage to horticultural crops becomes. It is obvious that a great deal of the damage is wind-borne; and it is not generally realized how far away the particles of the chemicals borne can be carried by the wind and cause damage. The use of airplanes for custom spraying, which is now becoming quite common, is undoubtedly a contributing factor also. In the long run, one of the most important factors involved is the very large number of home gardens scattered all over the prairies on farms, and in villages, towns and cities. For example, Edmonton Parks officials estimated that more than 24,000 bottles of weed-control material were purchased last year by the city's 40,000 home owners. Home gardeners themselves can do much damage if they are not very careful in the application of herbicides." It was pointed out that several states—Arkansas, California, Idaho, Louisiana, Mississippi, Oregon and Texas have already passed legislation against more highly volatile forms of 2,4-D.

The committee concluded that "in view of the mounting quantity of evidence against herbicides in the volatile form, and the indiscriminate application of other forms causing spray drift to sensitive crops, it would appear that the time is long overdue for the adoption of some method that would prevent further damage in the future."

BUILDING BRICKS—Building up stacks of bricks to be used for building brick buildings is the particular role the Saskatchewan Clay Products plant at Estevan so that this industry itself is playing no small part in the building of an industrial aspect to Estevan's economy. $50,000 FIRE—Flames which can be seen above pouring out the windows of the New Norway Hotel completely destroyed the $50,000 structure early Wednesday morning. First discovered about 5 a.m., the fire had gutted the building by 7 o'clock. Local plant to shuttle milk to Shaunavon

The $60,000 fire that razed the Saskatchewan Co-operative Creamery plant at Shaunavon Sunday afternoon will cause a good deal of inconvenience to the company, but it will not disrupt the supply of milk and milk products to Shaunavon households.

Service will be maintained through co-operation of the company's Swift Current plant. Local manager, Fred Hawkins, told The Sun Monday that Shaunavon district shippers will send their raw milk supplies here, where it will be processed. A shuttle service will be maintained between here and Shaunavon to provide people there with milk and milk products.

Some news releases after the fire hinted that the Swift Current plant might have its local milk service affected as a consequence, but this is not the case, Mr. Hawkins asserted. "As a matter of fact," he said, "the local plant may be better situated, since Shaunavon of late has been a surplus milk area, and all this milk will now be shipped to Swift Current for processing." —The Sun, Swift Current, Sask.—April 10/57.

Tractor Safety competition feature of Camrose Fair

Secretary Stuart also advised the meeting of the proposal of the Alberta Safety Council to hold its farm safety competitions here during the Camrose Fair. This program drew large crowds in Edmonton and Calgary last year and was eagerly accepted by the Board Friday night. The idea is to organize local fairs this year and lead into a provincial championship. The details were left to the Executive to work out. —The Canadian, Camrose, Alta.—April 10/57.

Helpful Hints

To prevent potatoes from being well after boiling them use a neat type of potato. After boiling, drain thoroughly, then shake the pan uncovered over the stove burner to allow moisture to evaporate.

To apply stiffening to collars, cuffs or any small part of a garment that you want extra stiff, use a new small paint brush and apply liquid starch to the areas to be treated.

Instead of rubbing garlic into your salad bowl, try this method: Peel a good fat clove of garlic and cut it delicately in two. Then pop the halves into the vinegar you are going to use, cover and set in a warm place for an hour. Fish out the garlic with a fork, and discard, then proceed with making your dressing.

It's amazing how many housewives have never used spinach in a salad. Put freshly washed spinach green in your salad bowl, then toss with French dressing spiced with a few dashes of soy sauce.

You can make left over putty to the right consistency (about that of thick dough) by adding a small amount of linseed oil. And if you place wax paper over the putty in the container, it will help prevent the oils in the putty drying out.

Toast a half cup of sliced blanched almonds in a couple of tablespoons of butter in a small skillet. Good over practically any cooked green vegetable or cream style cottage cheese.

Western seeding intentions

The March 1st "Seeding Intentions" of Western Canadian farmers published by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, contained few surprises. The whole trend seems to be in the direction of special crops and those which are free, or relatively free, of quota restrictions. Thus we find that the intended acreage of durum wheat may be increased as much as 50 percent over last year. No many years ago the whole trend seems to be in the direction of special crops and those which are free, or relatively free, of quota restrictions. Thus we find that the intended acreage of durum wheat may be increased as much as 50 percent over last year. No many years ago the whole trend seems to be in the direction of special crops and those which are free, or relatively free, of quota restrictions. Thus we find that the intended acreage of durum wheat may be increased as much as 50 percent over last year.

It is rather surprising to read of the large increase anticipated in the rapeseed acreage in Western Canada. This may amount to as much as 70 percent and some authorities are expecting that it may go even higher. Such an acreage would give a very large quantity of rapeseed, even on an average yield per acre and although there has been an expanding market for rapeseed in recent years, the market is still limited. Thus it might be very easy to over-produce this special crop particularly if the season is a favorable one.

Of the remaining crops, the acreage of oats is expected to be relatively unchanged, while that for spring wheat proper, excluding durum, may be increased by as much as 12 percent. One must always remember with intentions to seed, however, that all these figures represent farmers' thinking as at March 1st and that a good many things may happen, and sometimes do, to make farmers change their seeding plans. —The Herald, Spiritwood, Sask.—April 5, 1957.

BOARD OF TRADE MEMBERSHIP

Thirty membership applications already secured in the drive headed by Vice-President R. L. "Bob" Fletcher were accepted at the monthly meeting of the City and District Board of Trade Tuesday night.

Ten of the new members were present and welcomed to the organization by President Percy Buckle.

Mr. Fletcher reported the drive 50 percent completed in the outlying areas and 50 percent complete in the city. He anticipates it will produce at least 50 new members. Additional revenue resulting already, exceeded $400 he said. —The Fraser Valley Record, Mission City, B.C.—April 10, 1957.

BREAD: THE STAFF OF LIFE!

In Canada the consumption of bread is declining.
Bread made from Canadian flour is highly nutritious and it deserves a more prominent place in the daily menu.

By encouraging greater bread consumption we can play a small but not unimportant part in reducing Canada's surplus stocks of wheat.
